

Plain and simple, I just don't want to talk to telemarketers. They never have, nor never will have anything that interests me. Just let people have a peaceful evening at home without being pestered.